Traditionally-styled Kilner jars in 'glasslike PET' now available exclusively from Johnsen & Jorgensen

New-generation Kilner jars manufactured from shatter-proof PET by US plastics giant The Plastek Group are now available in the UK exclusively from packaging container specialists Johnsen & Jorgensen (J & J).

Providing all the benefits of traditional Kilner jars - including a very close similarity to glass in both look and feel – the 'glasslike PET' Kilner jars can be used in many sectors including cosmetics and body-care; specialist foods, preserves and so on.

All jars are supplied with the PET-lid, galvanized wire strap and food-grade nitrile rubber seal fully assembled. Decoration options include:

- Printing in up to three colours
- Jars printed and/or labelled
- Lids may be printed, gold-blocked and moulded with a customized logo
- Jars and lids may be moulded in customized colours or finishes
- Seals may be manufactured in customized colours

J & J Sales Director, Jxxxx Wxxxx, is delighted with the new arrangement with Plastek:

“To be exclusive distributors for Kilner jars in the UK is exciting enough,” says Jxxxx. “To be able to offer the traditionally-styled jars in high quality new-generation PET is nothing short of amazing!”

Kilner jars come in the following sizes: 125ml, 200ml (tapered or straight wall), 300ml and 350ml. Jars are manufactured by the Injector Stretch Blow-moulding process which enables new sizes and shapes to be made from existing preforms.
